

Your patent-worthy innovation deserves an innovative approach to protecting it.

Patent pursuit and intellectual property protection takes more than legal know-how.

It takes deep understanding of the underlying science and technology, speaking the language of inventors and guiding them through the patent process.

A measured approach, in sync with the pace of the Patent Office and the courts.

A big-picture mind-set, to see and advise on the broad implications from a practical, business-focused point of view.

I know the stakes, and the stakeholders.

From individuals with a singular invention to Fortune 500 companies with massive IP portfolios and everything in between.

I represent their needs in all types of patent prosecution and litigation.

Helping them proactively avoid problems and creatively solve them.

Your IP reflects a commitment to innovation and years of determination.

I'm just as determined to protect it.

I'm AMANDA MILLER.

I'm on your team.
