Benesch Expands its Services with New Practice and Industry Areas

Public Finance Practice Group

Benesch welcomed six new attorneys who will serve as core members of the firm's recently organized Public Finance Practice Group. During challenging economic times, Benesch's Public Finance Practice Group will offer its clients counsel in relation to the many government-initiated stimulus projects that are expected to arise. The new group will work hand-in-hand with the firm's flourishing Public Law Practice Group, which earned Benesch the ranking of #1 in Columbus in the areas of Administrative Law, Appellate Law and Government Relations Law by Best Lawyers® 2009.

The following attorneys will serve as core members of the group:

Michael J. Melliere

The Public Finance Practice Group will serve as bond counsel, underwriter's counsel, issuer's counsel, borrower's counsel, credit enhancer's counsel and derivatives counsel for both private and public sector clients. In addition, the group will assist clients in debt structurings with fixed and variable rate securities, conduit financings, public offerings and private placements. The group is knowledgeable about various economic development programs, including tax increment financings (TIFs), new community authorities, joint economic development districts and zones (JEDDs and JEDZs), community reinvestment areas (CRAs), enterprise zones and a variety of other incentive programs. They will also provide counsel on matters related to Ohio ethics laws, annexation, intergovernmental agreements, state and federal loans and grants, and constitutional and public law issues.

C. David Paragas, Partner-in-Charge of Benesch's Columbus Office and Co-Chair of its Public Law Practice Group stated, "We are very excited to bring these attorneys to the firm and believe they are a perfect fit to serve as the founding members of our new Public Finance Group. This addition will further extend the capabilities of our already recognized prominence in the area of public law, and will provide an enhanced range of services to our clients."

Energy Industry Group

The rising demand for energy, along with decreasing resources and increasing prices, can present businesses in the energy sector with challenging legal, business and regulatory issues, as well as exciting new opportunities. Benesch recognizes the unique challenges faced by energy-related businesses, and has organized an Energy Industry Group to better serve our new and existing clients. The group consists of attorneys who are able to provide knowledgeable legal counsel to clients in all phases of the energy sector. From initial capitalization or acquisition, through licensing, construction and operation of energy generating facilities, Benesch's Energy Industry Group will offer a comprehensive perspective to best service our clients.

Orla C. Collier

Kevin D. Margolis

The Energy Industry Group includes an integrated, cross-functional team of corporate, public utility and regulatory, environmental, real estate, public law, public finance, intellectual property and construction attorneys. Lead by Orla C. Collier, Columbus Chair of the Litigation Practice Group, and Kevin D. Margolis, Chair of the Real Estate & Environmental Practice Group, the group began offering its services to clients in the fall of 2008 and continues to expand its reach. In connection with the coming economic stimulus package, as well as recent state and federal initiatives to establish requirements for renewable energy portfolios, the Energy Industry Group foresees becoming involved with an increasing number of clients in 2009.

Economic Growth & Development Team

Over the last year, Congress enacted a series of laws profoundly altering the American economy and government's role in economic activity. The federal legislation has included the Economic Stimulus Act of 2008, the Emergency Economic Stabilization Act of 2008 (creating the Troubled Asset Relief Program), and the recent American Recovery and Reinvestment Act of 2009 (the "Stimulus Bill"). According to the Obama Administration, these measures are only the beginning of further legislative initiatives designed to transform the American economy.

C. David Paragas

William M. Todd

The Benesch Economic Growth & Development Team, chaired by C. David Paragas, Partner-in-Charge of the Columbus office, and William M. Todd, Of Counsel with the Public

Law Practice Group, is a multidisciplinary group of attorneys who combine their skills and experience to enable our clients to embrace the rapidly changing American economic environment. Our team includes lawyers who have experience in the development of public policy, and the legal skills necessary to guide our clients through the flurry of new federal and state economic recovery laws. The areas affected by these laws include real estate, environmental, construction, health care, intellectual property, public law, public finance, bankruptcy and general corporate.

Regulatory Enforcement & Corporate Compliance Practice Group

In today's world economy, a broader business marketplace means the fine line between best practices, industry customs and rules of law can often become blurred. The freewheeling growth of corporate America and the general globalization of business has brought about the expanded reach of federal law. As a result, we at Benesch are prepared to represent our clients on a myriad of related issues. Benesch is prepared for and capable of responding to the full breadth of civil and/or criminal actions that can be brought against individuals and entities in today's legal environment. Our newly formed Regulatory Enforcement & Corporate

James L. Ervin, Jr.

Compliance (RECC) Practice Group, chaired by James L. Ervin, Jr., Of Counsel with the Litigation Practice Group, services clients in a two-tiered approach. In addition to providing proactive counsel about best practices and policies that help a client guard against legal pitfalls, we also defend clients against internal and/or external attacks and claims.

The RECC Practice Group focuses largely on compliance matters and counseling clients on ways to avoid potential pitfalls and trouble areas that can detrimentally affect a company or executive. We act as our clients' first-responder and defender when conducting internal investigations, responding to subpoenas or defending against other legal and regulatory actions that can penetrate a company's walls, or an executive's personal life. ►

Kirchick, House, Gambaccini Named Partners at Benesch

Benesch is proud to announce that John S. Gambaccini, Ronald L. House and Ross J. Kirchick have been named partners at the firm.

John S. Gambaccini

Ronald L. House

Ross J. Kirchick

John is a member of the firm's Corporate & Securities Practice Group as well as its Private Equity Practice Group. He focuses his practice on mergers and acquisitions as well as debt and equity financings. John represents both publicly and privately held companies, as well as private equity, subordinated debt and venture funds, and portfolio companies of such funds. He is also experienced in representing both buyers and sellers in 363 sales and other bankruptcy-related transactions.

Ron is a member of the firm's Litigation Practice Group. He focuses his practice on commercial and contract disputes, representation of licensees before Ohio state administrative boards, creditors' rights litigation including truth-in-lending, RESPA, foreclosure, replevin and attachment, product liability, appellate briefing and argument, and construction litigation.

Ross is a member of the firm's Commercial Finance & Banking Practice Group. He focuses his practice on bank and lender representation in senior and subordinated debt transactions, and borrower representation including for-profit and not-for-profit borrowers. Ross' loan transaction experience includes health care lending, letters of credit and bond financings, syndications, asset-based lending, venture capital transactions and other leveraged buyout transactions, loan maintenance and modifications, and workouts and recapitalizations. ►

Eisenberg and Carsonie Elected to Executive Committee

Benesch is pleased to announce that Frank Carsonie and Gregg A. Eisenberg have been elected to the firm's Executive Committee. They will each be serving a three-year term, which began on January 1, 2009.

Frank Carsonie

Frank is a partner with the firm's Health Care Practice Group and Corporate & Securities Practice Group and works out of the Columbus office. He focuses his practice on counseling individuals and entities in the health care industry on business transactions and regulatory matters. Frank also advises individuals and entities such as public and private for-profit and non-profit companies on organization, reorganization, mergers and acquisitions, divestitures, strategic alliances and joint ventures, capital financings including private equity and venture capital funding, corporate governance, negotiation, drafting and enforcement of contracts, and general business counseling.

Gregg A. Eisenberg

Gregg is a partner with the firm's Corporate & Securities Practice Group and Private Equity Practice Group and is located in the Cleveland office. He focuses his practice on mergers and acquisitions as well as public and private debt and equity financings. Gregg represents both publicly and privately held companies at various stages of growth and has been involved in strategic planning for growth companies, helping to position them for various stages of private financing and anticipated public offerings. He also represents private equity, subordinated debt and venture funds as well as portfolio companies of such funds. ►

Benesch B-Casts

Benesch recently began a new videocast series, B-Casts, which spotlight interviews with Benesch attorneys on current topics of relevance to clients. The first segment of four B-Casts featured Labor & Employment Practice Group partners Peter N. Kirsanow, Joseph N. Gross, Mike A. Buck and Ann E. Knuth, who spoke on The Healthy Families Act, The Employee Free Choice Act, employment verification, and coming changes in discrimination law. Future B-Casts are in the works for the firm's other practice areas. Please check out the B-Casts in the Media Center of www.beneschlaw.com. ►

Caring for Our Communities

Benesch employees continue to serve the communities in which we work.

On February 6, 2009, Benesch joined with thousands of other companies, organizations and cities across the U.S. to help the American Heart Association support ongoing research and education about women and heart disease. The firm showed its support of the American Heart Association and its “Go Red” campaign by encouraging all attorneys and staff to wear red to work.

The “Go Red” campaign was founded to help women fight back against heart disease, which is the number one killer of women in America. The campaign aims to continue to educate women about their risks and help them find their own personal path to better health for life. ►

Staff members in Benesch's Columbus office wear red in support of the American Heart Association.

Diversity Corner

Benesch is proud to continue its commitment and dedication to creating a diverse and inclusive work environment. The firm focuses its diversity efforts within three specific areas: recruiting, retention and education. In the past year, the Diversity Committee has been actively reaching further into the legal community. Evelyn K. Holmer, an associate in the Corporate & Securities Practice Group, and Luis A. Carrion, an associate in the Intellectual Property Practice Group, have joined the Cleveland Metropolitan Bar Association's Diversity Action Committee and are working within the community to develop ongoing programming. Luis, along with Niki Schaefer, an associate in the Litigation Practice Group, is assisting with the Cleveland Metropolitan Bar Association's Minority Clerkship Program.

Betsy A. Dellinger, partner and the firm's Diversity Chair, Tamara L. Karel, an associate in the Litigation Practice Group and Laura Beresh, an associate in the Intellectual Property Practice Group, have been involved with speaking engagements to women's law groups, including at the University of Akron and University of Toledo, and also on a “Women in the Law” panel cohosted by the law schools at Cleveland State University and Case Western Reserve University, as well as the Cleveland Metropolitan Bar Association. Additional activities planned for 2009 include “family talk” brown bag lunches and a summer panel program for the firm's women attorneys and summer associates. ►

Awards and Honors

Janet K. Feldkamp Presented with TAANA Service Award

Janet K. Feldkamp

At The American Association of Nurse Attorneys (TAANA) Annual Meeting & Educational Conference in Tampa, Florida, during the fall of 2008, several prestigious awards were given in recognition of members' achievements and contributions to the field of nurse attorneys. Janet K. Feldkamp, Co-Chair of Benesch's Health Care Practice Group, was presented with the Cynthia Northrop

Distinguished Service Award. TAANA established the award to recognize an individual member's leadership role in, and significant contributions to, TAANA. The award is named for Cynthia Ellen Northrop, the founder and first president of TAANA, and is intended to serve as an expression of sincere gratitude for the member's committed leadership, participation in and contributions to the purposes of TAANA.

Janet's practice includes various aspects of health law with an emphasis on long-term care regulatory matters such as survey certification, and informal review requests. Her health care background includes employment as an intensive care nurse, a surveyor for long-term care facilities, a director of nursing in long-term care, an assistant administrator of a large skilled-nursing facility and a nurse consultant for a multistate long-term care management firm. She has assisted numerous long-term care facilities through the regulatory and enforcement maze, including clients with proposed fast-track terminations, Medicaid payment bans and proposed civil monetary penalties.

Bankruptcy Committee of Philadelphia Bar Wins "Committee of the Year Award" for Second Consecutive Year

Bradford J. Sandler

Under the Chairmanship of Business Reorganization Practice Group partner Bradford J. Sandler, the Bankruptcy Committee for the Business Law Section of the Philadelphia Bar Association was named the "Committee of the Year" for the second consecutive year. The Committee of the Year Award is based on a vote by the Executive Committee of the Business Law Section. With more than 17 active committees in the Section, it is a great honor for the Bankruptcy Committee to achieve this distinction. The Committee was recognized for the award at the Business Law Section's Annual Reception in January 2009.

Brad is a partner in the firm's Business Reorganization Practice Group and is a member of the Diversity Committee. His experience includes representation of businesses in out of court reorganizations, and of debtors, creditors' committees, secured and unsecured creditors, purchasers, landlords, Chapter 11 and Chapter 7 trustees and post-confirmation plan administrators in business bankruptcies. Brad also focuses on, and has substantial experience in, representing international and national businesses as well as entrepreneurs in corporate and commercial transactions. ►

Appointments

American College of Real Estate Lawyers

Norman W. Gutmacher

Norman W. Gutmacher, a partner with Benesch's Real Estate & Environmental Practice Group, has been elected

Secretary of The American College of Real Estate Lawyers (ACREL), where he will serve a one-year term. In his capacity as Secretary, Norm will also serve on ACREL's Executive Committee. He previously served as Chair of ACREL's Commercial Leasing Committee and as Co-Chair of its Practice Technology Committee.

ACREL is a prestigious and highly-selective national organization of real estate attorneys recognized for their skill, experience and high standards of professional and ethical conduct. ACREL's objectives include promoting high standards of professional and ethical responsibility in the practice of real estate law, seeking to improve and reform real estate law and practice, and making available to the bar and to the public authoritative educational materials in the field of real estate.

Norm focuses his practice on commercial real estate matters, particularly commercial leasing, commercial development, commercial lending and AIA construction contract matters. His practice is national in scope, often representing national developers and national tenants, particularly tenants in the restaurant industry.

Support To At-Risk Teens

Laura Beresh

Laura Beresh, an associate in the firm's Intellectual Property and Corporate & Securities Practice Groups, has been named to the board of Support To At-Risk Teens (START), part of Lutheran Metropolitan Ministries of Cleveland. START works to promote healing through service and advocacy with youth who are hurting, displaced and forgotten. START's Youth Employment Program is a ministry for out-of-school youth ages 16–21, which offers basic education, job readiness training, self-sufficiency skills and job placement services to help them find jobs. In addition, START offers afterschool prevention resources, and supports the Westhaven Youth Shelter, a safe haven for teens who are homeless, awaiting permanent placement through foster care or working toward reunification with their families. START also offers a Youth Re-Entry Program, which is a semi-independent living program for young adults.

Laura focuses her practice on structuring, drafting and negotiating agreements relating to the transfer or sharing of intellectual property assets and services, including strategic alliance, licensing, confidentiality, consulting, assignment and joint development agreements. She is experienced in drafting and negotiating Internet-related agreements and Web site hosting and development agreements. Laura counsels clients on intellectual property aspects of mergers and acquisitions, and advises them on federal and state laws relating to privacy and electronic communications.

Temple University's Beasley School of Law

Bradford J. Sandler has been appointed Adjunct Professor of Law at Temple University's Beasley School of Law. Temple University's Beasley School of Law offers a real-world experience that incorporates academic and practical applications of legal study into rigorous classroom experiences. Its faculty is composed of a distinguished group of experienced attorneys who are recognized throughout the world as legal experts. As part of this group, Brad will be teaching a course in corporate reorganization and Chapter 11 bankruptcy. The course focuses on the reorganization process from pre-bankruptcy planning to commencement of a case through post-confirmation of a plan of reorganization. ►

Update from Shanghai

Peter K. Shelton, daughter Abigail, wife Julie and son Ford at Tiananmen Square

Peter K. Shelton, Co-Chair of Benesch's China Practice Group, relocated with his family to Shanghai during the summer of 2008. While working out of the firm's Shanghai office, Peter has had the opportunity to experience life in China while also connecting with many of the firm's clients who have interests in China. Peter shared his experience for Inside Benesch:

"The past half year in Shanghai has been a great experience for my family, as well as for me professionally – filled with many wonderful experiences, as well as the normal challenges that come with relocating to a foreign country. We have all made new friends, both Chinese as well as fellow lao wai (foreigners) from many lands. My childrens' classmates at the Shanghai Community International School hail from China, Korea, Japan, the U.S, Denmark and Sweden (among other places). Our apartment building neighbors are predominantly lao wai from the U.S. and Europe, but we step outside our building onto a bustling street filled with local merchants and street vendors selling dumplings, produce, seafood and poultry.

"All four of us are learning, or at least beginning to learn, Mandarin (China's national language). During a trip to Beijing in November, we visited a number of significant landmarks, including the Great Wall, Tiananmen Square and the Forbidden City. Further afield, we visited Kyoto, Japan, in October.

"From a professional perspective, being in our Shanghai office, alongside colleagues Yanping Wang, Leo Pan and Kay Zhao, has been a rewarding chance to work with and on behalf of our many clients with interests in China, and also to continue expanding our network of professionals and service providers with whom we frequently collaborate and make referrals. My time here in Shanghai has afforded me the opportunity to more closely monitor the 'pulse' of the Chinese economy and the climate for investment by our U.S.-based clients. China's projected growth rate for 2009, and the impact of that growth on job creation, is – and will continue to be – a hot topic in the business community and business press.

Non-profit Spotlight

Alvis, Inc., dba Alvis House

“China’s economy, like that of the U.S. and much of the rest of the world – has slowed markedly in recent months. Much of the slowdown here is a result of the conspicuous drop-off in demand for Chinese-made products in the U.S. as a result of the U.S. recession. While the Chinese economy won’t see the kind of double-digit expansion it has enjoyed in recent years, economic forecasters are still predicting growth of 6 to 8 percent in 2009, and the Chinese government is expected to continue to use the fiscal and monetary tools at its disposal to reach the high end of that range.

“All of us in the China Group, both in our Shanghai and U.S. offices, will continue to monitor and report on legal and business developments affecting our clients and their business interests in China. ►

Alvis House, founded in 1967, is a not-for-profit organization operating programs in Columbus, Dayton, Toledo, Lima and Chillicothe, OH. The agency’s mission is, “to serve communities by providing research-based programs and services that promote healthier families, personal responsibility and public safety.” Alvis House provides direct services to more than 3,000 men, women, young adults and children each year, and impacts tens of thousands more. It is a strong and growing organization, with revenues nearly doubling in the past five years.

Agency programs include residential halfway houses, job readiness training and placement assistance, vocational assessment and educational assistance, mental health services, substance abuse counseling and education, corrective thinking therapy, individual case management, life skills education and referral services. Alvis House has a well-deserved reputation for operating highly specialized programs, such as a program for adult males with mental retardation and other developmental disabilities (MRDD), supported living programs for individuals with MRDD, a program for veterans and a program for individuals with co-occurring disorders. The agency recently expanded its scope of services to include families of incarcerated individuals and youth and adults who may be at risk of entering into criminal behavior.

Marty J. Sweterlitsch

Marty J. Sweterlitsch, Of Counsel with Benesch’s Health Care Practice Group, has been the primary legal counsel to Alvis House for many years. “We have relied on Marty’s expertise on everything from Medicaid issues to zoning to resolving employment issues,” says Denise M. Robinson, president and CEO of Alvis House. “I can’t imagine where we’d be without her work on our behalf.” ►
