Jessica N. Kull

Natasa Timotijevic

Goldberg Segalla elevated Natasa Timotijevic to partner in the Chicago office.

Timotijevic counsels and defends insurers, employers, and third-party administrators in a variety of workers' compensation claims. Her experience includes handling matters relating to automobile accidents, workers' compensation, special education, and employment discrimination before the Cook County Circuit Court and the Illinois Workers' Compensation Commission.

As a law student, Timotijevic served as a law clerk in the Office of the Illinois Attorney General, Bureau of Workers' Compensation. She also worked as a student attorney in the university's Civil Litigation Clinic, where she represented clients in claims involving divorce, consumer debt defense, and the Fair Debt Collection Practices Act.

Traub Lieberman elected Jessica N. Kull to the partnership. Kull joined the firm in 2015.

Her practice focuses on insurance defense, and she routinely represents insureds in a wide range of liability disputes, including construction defect, personal injury, trucking accidents, medical malpractice, legal malpractice, products liability and general commercial matters.

She also has experience by routinely acting as monitoring and excess counsel where she provides liability and exposure advice for multimillion-dollar claims.

Benesch promoted Michael E. Bloom, Timothy M. Frey, Trevor J. Illes and Helen M. Schweitz to partners of the firm in the Chicago office.

telehealth, and commercial aviation. He has represented clients in, among other types of disputes, matters involving allegations of defamation, securities fraud, breach of contract, the RICO Act, and business torts.

Frey has more than 10 years of complex commercial litigation experience. During that time, he has represented public and private companies, as well as individuals, in litigation including products liability, class actions, breach of contract, breach of fiduciary duty, data theft, employment disputes, and contested corporate restructurings. In addition, Frey has defended companies and individuals subject to civil and criminal investigations brought by the SEC, DOJ, and various state attorneys general.

Illes represents large publicly traded and privately held companies in federal and state court in connection with a variety of litigation matters and government investigations, including class actions, complex multi-jurisdictional commercial litigation, employment litigation, litigation under federal and state securities laws, cargo claims and freight-charge disputes, and investigations by the SEC and DOJ.

Schweitz focuses her practice on technology transactions, licensing, online contracting, and data privacy and security. She drafts and negotiates business-critical intellectual property and information technology agreements, including software-as-a-service, IT services, data licensing, content licensing, maintenance and support, reseller, development, collaboration, and data protection agreements.
