So are our clients

Benesch's Real Estate & Environmental Practice Group now has more than 35 professionals solely dedicated to this practice, making it one of the deepest benches of any law firm in the region. Our clients span the nation and the industry—landlords and tenants, owners and developers, lenders and borrowers. They come to us with specific legal and business needs and high expectations. We answer with broad experience and specialized, client-centric service. May we do the same for you?
