

MY BENESCH

"Benesch is very aware of the value of time. When giving counsel, they cut through the clutter to highlight the most important issues. They don't get lost in the weeds. In our high-volume fast-paced environment, that makes all the difference."

When executing 20 or more multifamily development projects from the ground up every year, time becomes the most valuable asset. Noam and his legal team rely on Benesch to keep complex real estate transactions moving forward, which includes spotting issues and also analyzing, advocating, advising, and ultimately helping to get deals done. From initial joint venture and operating agreements to project financing to eventual sale of completed developments, Benesch brings in-depth industry insight, NRP-specific knowledge, and a practical, results-focused approach—deal after deal.
