IANA - Independent Contractor Update Webinar

APRIL 6, 2021

Speakers: Marc S. Blubaugh, Margo Wolf O'Donnell, Jordan J. Call

The use of independent contractors has been foundational to the stability and success of the intermodal industry. However, the model remains under attack from private litigants, certain state governments, and now the federal government. The Biden administration has taken swift regulatory action (and promises legislative action) not only with respect to independent contractors but across a wide variety of employment-related issues. This webinar will provide you with the latest legal developments on these important fronts in order to help you successfully manage your workforce and maintain your relationships with independent contractors.
