Running a successful hospital-based practice requires a different business savvy now than it has in the past. To open an office-based lab (OBL) or stay at the top of the business game, an entrepreneurial approach to business is a must.

The SIR Business Institute is the newly created entrepreneurial business symposium for early career IRs, IR private practice owners and practice administrators. The 1-day educational offering will allow through the implementation of a process-based approach for owners to set up/expand their practices.
