

Benesch Advances to #120 on 2025 Law360 400 List

JULY 1, 2025

Benesch is pleased to announce that it has advanced six spots to #120 on the 2025 Law360 400 list, which ranks the 400 largest U.S. law firms by domestic attorney headcount. This follows the firm's recent 10-spot jump on the 2025 Am Law 200 and record recognition in Chambers 2025, with 19 practice areas and 40 attorneys ranked.

This continued momentum reflects the firm's deliberate and strategic growth over the past year. Unlike the broader trend in the legal industry of growing through mergers and acquisitions, Benesch's growth has been entirely organic. It has been driven by the successful recruitment and retention of top lateral talent from across the country, adding depth across key practice areas and allowing clients to shape the direction and pace of growth.

"In a legal market where growth through consolidation has become the norm, we've remained focused on building our team intentionally and sustainably," said Benesch Managing Partner Gregg Eisenberg. "We're very proud of what we're building at Benesch. Growing through laterals continues to be the right strategy for us, and it has helped us maintain the culture and client-first approach that define our firm."

Benesch is recognized as one of the fastest-growing business law firms in the country, with more than 450 attorneys and a growing footprint in key markets including Chicago, New York and San Francisco.

Read the article here.