

Benesch Partner Hanna Conger Named to Chicago Daily Law Bulletin Media's 2024 Top Women in Law

DECEMBER 4, 2024

Benesch is pleased to announce that Partner Hanna Conger has been named to Chicago Daily Law Bulletin Media's 5th Annual Top Women in Law. This recognition honors outstanding female attorneys who have demonstrated exceptional leadership, success in the legal community, and a commitment to mentoring and promoting other women in the profession.

Hanna is one of 30 honorees who were selected from more than 300 nominations for their commitment to promoting other women in the legal profession, their career accomplishments and their exemplary leadership.

"We are thrilled to see Hanna recognized among such an accomplished group of women," said Managing Partner Gregg Eisenberg. "This honor comes as no surprise, as she truly exemplifies the characteristics of 'Top Women in Law' through her leadership, impressive accomplishments, and dedication to contributing to the advancement of fellow women in the field."

As a partner in Benesch's Energy Practice Group, Hanna is proficient in navigating the regulatory environment for energy-sector clients. She advises on grid infrastructure, utility rates and significant transactions, serving as lead outside counsel on rate-related matters. Hanna devises innovative regulatory solutions for integrating new technologies like electric vehicles and battery storage into the grid.

The 2024 Top Women in Law honorees represent law firms, nonprofit and government sectors, private and public companies, healthcare, businesses and institutions, showcasing a wide range of dedication and impact.
