

MEDIA MENTIONS

Benesch Partner Michael Stovsky Quoted in Los Angeles Times Article

NOVEMBER 22, 2024

Michael Stovsky, a Partner in the Firm's Intellectual Property Practice Group, was quoted in a recent Los Angeles Times article discussing the ongoing legal and political challenges facing TikTok in the U.S. The article, which focuses on the intersection of national security concerns and the future of the popular social media platform, highlights Stovsky's expert perspective on the potential implications of regulatory scrutiny on TikTok's parent company, ByteDance, under both the Trump and Biden administrations. Stovsky discussed how the shifting political landscape could influence the company's operations and strategies moving forward.

To read the full article, visit: Los Angeles Times - TikTok's Challenges in the U.S.