Benesch Recognized for Top Read Article in Securities by 2026 JD Supra Readers' Choice Awards

FEBRUARY 26, 2026

Benesch is pleased to announce that the firm has been recognized by the 2026 JD Supra Readers' Choice Awards for Top Read Article in the Securities category for "December 2025 Crypto Update: New Changes and Challenges in U.S. Regulation of Digital Assets," authored by Patrick Beisell, William Walsh, Collin Cahill and Matthew Wulf. This recognition reflects the firm's thought leadership and strong readership among industry professionals, including C-suite executives, in-house counsel, media and other professionals. Only one firm is selected per category based on 2025 readership data.

In 2025, Benesch published 280 articles on JD Supra, generating 324,365 total reads. The firm remains committed to keeping a pulse on industry developments and providing clear, practical guidance on issues shaping the legal and business environment, ensuring clients are informed and equipped to make strategic decisions.

JD Supra's Readers' Choice Awards recognize the most widely read authors and firms across 33 key cross-industry topics selected for their timeliness and ongoing importance. Each year, only 10 authors per category and one firm are recognized for maintaining consistently high readership and engagement. In total, just 342 authors were selected from more than 70,000 who publish on the platform.
