Benesch Represents Honeywell in SparkMeter Platforms Acquisition, Modernizing Grid Infrastructure Solutions to Meet Energy Demand

AUGUST 25, 2025

Benesch is proud to announce it represented Honeywell in its tuck-in acquisition of SparkMeter, a provider of leading grid management solutions for utilities.

This acquisition, which includes SparkMeter's data platform, software technologies, intellectual property and related assets, expands Honeywell's Smart Energy portfolio, supporting scalable, data-driven initiatives to meet rising energy demand. Integrating SparkMeter's technology will improve data analytics delivery and operational performance visibility, modernizing utilities while advancing overall financial performance.

The Benesch team was led by Partners Kevin Humphries and Andrew Glickman, and included Injune Park, Zach Love, Dan Marks and Trevor Martin.
