

Benesch Serves as Legal Counsel to Noble Rock Software on Strategic Investment in Energy Worldnet

APRIL 15, 2025

Benesch is proud to announce that it served as legal counsel to Noble Rock Software in its strategic investment in Energy Worldnet (EWN), a leader in operator qualification software for the energy sector. This investment aims to further enhance EWN's software platform, supporting the evolving needs of the industry and driving technological innovation in operator qualification and workforce compliance solutions.

The Benesch team advising Noble Rock Software was led by Aslam Rawoof and Corey Sparks with support from Rick Tracanna and Cheryl Donahue. Their combined expertise in private equity, M&A, tax, regulatory compliance, and technology transactions played a critical role in the successful execution of this deal.

"This transaction represents a significant step forward for both Noble Rock Software and Energy Worldnet," said Aslam Rawoof, Partner at Benesch. "We are proud to have supported Noble Rock Software in securing this strategic investment, which will help advance EWN's cutting-edge software solutions and expand their impact within the energy sector."

Noble Rock Software's investment in EWN underscores the increasing demand for digital transformation in energy workforce training and compliance. With this partnership, EWN will continue to refine and expand its software platform, ensuring that energy operators have access to the most comprehensive and efficient qualification tools available.

For more information about this transaction, please visit: Noble Rock Software Announcement