Benesch's Health Care Practice Group Launches New Blog

JANUARY 30, 2012

We are very excited to debut our Health Care Practice Group's new blog - www.beneschhealthlaw.com. The blog covers topical legal and regulatory issues relating to Health Care and the law. There are also federal and state health care regulatory resources available on the site and lists of upcoming events and recent publications. The site is designed as a resource for health care industry stakeholders; including investors, financing sources, providers, professionals and others.

An RSS feed of the articles on the blog is available by using the link www.beneschhealthlaw.com/feed.
