Benesch Healthcare Partner Jason Greis was featured on the BackTable Vascular & Interventional Podcast, where he discussed the growing scrutiny surrounding Medicare audits and their impact on physicians and medical practices.

In the episode, Jason joins Dr. Aparna Baheti to explain the Medicare audit process, including common audit areas in endovascular care, the increasing role of artificial intelligence in identifying potential billing issues, and the various types of audits physicians and practices may encounter. They also discuss responding to an audit, navigating the appeals process, proactive compliance and documentation strategies, and potential liability concerns for physicians and practice owners.
