Benesch is pleased to share that Law360 Pulse recently featured Robert Goldstein following his arrival as a partner in the firm's Corporate Practice Group in New York.

The article, "Vedder Corporate Attorney Joins Benesch In NY," highlights Goldstein's move to the firm and his more than three decades of experience advising clients on middle-market private equity transactions.

Goldstein brings a sophisticated transactional practice focused on representing private equity sponsors and their portfolio companies through all phases of the investment lifecycle—from acquisitions and financings to restructurings and exits. He is also a trusted advisor to investors and company leadership on broader strategic, operational, and governance matters.

In speaking with Law360 Pulse, Goldstein pointed to Benesch's continued momentum in the middle- and lower-middle-market private equity space, noting that the firm's ability to deliver high-caliber legal counsel with efficiency and practical insight aligns closely with his client-focused approach. He further emphasized his commitment to building on that momentum and enhancing the firm's position as a leading advisor in the private equity market.
