Margo Wolf O'Donnell Profiled in Law360 on Advice from Women Law Firm Leaders to Associates

MARCH 26, 2025

Margo Wolf O'Donnell, Co-Chair of Benesch's Labor & Employment Practice Group and DEI Committee, was profiled in Law360's feature highlighting top advice from women law firm leaders to associates. The article shares insights from five accomplished women in leadership roles, offering guidance to young female attorneys looking to advance in their careers.

"I found a practice area, employment law, that enables me to provide value to my clients by helping them maintain productive and stable workplaces," said O'Donnell. "Enjoying my work and being engaged with my practice and clients have enabled me to grow my practice and become a leader at my firm. If you find a practice area that you enjoy and a firm where you can thrive, success and leadership should follow."

She also emphasized the importance of responsiveness. "For all associates, responsiveness is incredibly important. As an employment lawyer, it's especially important to be available to clients and ready to respond to emergencies if they arise. The same goes for associates. Do not hesitate to be proactive and share your thoughts and ideas."
