Michael Vatis Quoted in Bloomberg Law on EU's AI and Privacy Rule Revamp Creating Compliance Uncertainty

NOVEMBER 21, 2025

Michael Vatis, partner in the firm's Litigation Practice Group, was quoted in Bloomberg Law discussing the EU's new "Digital Omnibus" proposal, which aims to simplify major digital regulations like the GDPR and AI Act.

Michael emphasized that the EU's latest proposal underscores the ongoing volatility of the regulatory landscape. "The terrain in the EU is just going to be changing yet again. In some ways, it may be for the better. In some ways not," he said, noting that companies value predictability as much as efficiency. Michael added that the proposal signals continued uncertainty for businesses navigating EU digital laws: "What this proposal indicates for certain is that the field is going to remain in flux."
