Vince Nardone, co-chair of the firm's Dental/DSO Industry Team, was recently featured in an interview with Dental Bite titled "DSO deals are coming back, but not like before."

In the feature, Nardone shares his perspective on the current state of dental support organization (DSO) transactions, explaining how deal activity is beginning to rebound - though under markedly different conditions than the peak years of 2020-2022. He discusses the impact of interest rates on valuations, the recalibration of buyer expectations, and what dentists and DSOs should anticipate as the market continues to stabilize.
