Overview

Destiny focuses her practice on real estate transactions, guiding clients throughout the deal lifecycle. She drafts and reviews purchase and sales contracts, lease agreements, deeds and mortgage documents, ensuring transactions are structured to protect her clients' interests. Destiny also conducts title searches and resolves title issues, manages closings and assists with due diligence.

Before transitioning to real estate, Destiny was a subrogation litigator. She represented insurance companies in recovering losses from third parties, managing matters from scene investigations through trial. That experience sharpened her ability to conduct research, evaluate risks, clearly communicate with clients about complex issues and devise practical strategies to achieve favorable outcomes.

Drawing on her early career experience as a paralegal, Destiny brings strong organizational skills, effective communication skills and a client-first approach to her work. She is known for her reliability, responsiveness and ability to determine actionable options for clients.

Inspired by her studies in real property and real estate law, and influenced by her fiancé's work as a realtor, Destiny brings both professional insight and personal passion to her practice. Whether negotiating contract terms or resolving a title issue, she is committed to providing thoughtful guidance and results that exceed expectations.
