Overview

Lilly focuses her practice on transactional matters, including corporate, M&A and private equity transactions. She supports clients throughout the life cycle of a deal from entity formation and organizational structuring to contract drafting and due diligence support. Lilly brings a solution-driven mindset and strong attention to detail to every engagement.

Lilly has represented entrepreneurs, small business owners, and nonprofit organizations in a wide range of business transactions. Her experience includes drafting and negotiating contracts, advising on corporate governance issues and forming new business entities.

In addition, Lilly has strengthened her analytical and written communication skills through work on complex legal matters. Her exposure to litigation procedures gives her a well-rounded perspective on legal risk, enabling her to anticipate strategic considerations in transactional matters.
