Overview

Marcie is responsible for overseeing Benesch's pricing and matter-management functions, bringing more than a decade of experience in corporate and legal business development, fee structuring and fiscal analysis to the role.

This combination of skills enables her to collaborate with attorneys and clients to design and implement creative, value-based pricing arrangements, improve data integrity, streamline legal operations, educate growth initiatives, and empower information-driven business decisions. Marcie's perspective and professional acumen, honed at Am Law 100 and 200 firms, also supports the firm's efforts to adopt thoughtful, strategic and efficient practices and processes to adeptly manage day-to-day and large-scale projects.

Before entering the legal industry, Marcie was a corporate marketing executive and focused on audience engagement, service delivery, and product research, design, pricing and roll-out.
